

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

PREFATORY NOTE

This List has to do with books and articles on the formation and history of political parties in the United States, but not with those on the general political history of the nation, unless treating of party organization or party action.

While the list is not exhaustive, it includes, besides the better known writings, some others which are not yet essential to the special investigator.

Party proceedings, and, as a rule, biographical studies, are omitted, nor has an exhibit of source material been attempted, the purpose being rather to note the literature of parties as interpreted by their historians.

PREFATORY NOTE

This list has been prepared in response to requests received from time to time. It has hitherto been distributed in typewritten form, but to meet demands it is now reduced to print. It is in no sense exhaustive, even of the resources of the Library, but is intended to serve as a ready-to-hand guide to accessible material.

Current statistical publications, etc.—The “Statistical abstract of the United Kingdom” gives tabulated statistics of the imports and exports of iron and steel, giving quantities and declared values, also the quantities and value of pig iron purchased in the United Kingdom. The “Accounts relating to trade and navigation of the United Kingdom,” published annually, give the quantities and value of specific manufactures of iron and steel, with statement of the exports to the different countries. The “Accounts relating to the trade and commerce of certain foreign countries and British possessions” show quantities and value of iron and steel exports and imports of the principal countries of the world. These are all publications of the British board of trade, and are issued as Parliamentary documents.

Annual publications dealing exclusively with statistics of iron and steel: American iron and steel association; British iron trade association. See also Periodicals noted below.

The statistics of production and manufactures and exports of iron and steel for Germany are given in tabular form in the “Statistisches Jahrbuch für das Deutsche Reichs.” This work also contains quotations of prices of pig iron. More detailed statistics of exports and imports are given in the “Vierteljahrsshefte zur Statistik des Deutschen Reichs” and in “Statistik des Deutschen Reichs: Auswärtiger Handel; Der Verkehr mit den einzelnen Ländern” (annual), published by the Imperial statistical office.

Prices.—Current prices may be found among others in the “Iron Age,” “Iron Trade Circular,” “Iron and Coal Trades Review,” “The Statist,” “The Economist” (London). The import and export prices of iron and steel products are given in the “Statistical Abstract for the United Kingdom.” The “Report of wholesale and retail prices in the United Kingdom,” published by the Board of trade, 1903, gives “ascertained” prices of iron and steel products for some items covering the years 1854 to 1902; for others, shorter periods in most cases going back to 1870. Another Board of trade report containing material relating to prices is "Tables showing for each of the years 1900-1905 the estimated value of imports into the United Kingdom, and exports from the United Kingdom of articles of British and Irish production at the prices prevailing in 1900."

German Steel Kartell, etc.—The "Commercial Intelligence," London, has printed at frequent intervals letters giving a survey of operations in iron and steel in Germany. Proceedings of the Iron and Steel Kartell in Germany are reported monthly in Conrad's "Jahrbücher für Nationalökonomie und Statistik," under "Kartellwesen." An extended investigation of this Iron and Steel Kartell was made under the direction of the German Interior Department and published in two volumes, entitled "Kontradicitorische Verhandlungen über deutsche Kartelle."

Periodicals.—The following periodicals, dealing principally with iron and steel, are received currently by the Library:

American Iron and Steel Association, Publications, Philadelphia; American Manufacturer and Iron World, Pittsburg; Bradstreet's, New York; Cassier's Magazine, New York; Colliery Guardian and Journal of the Coal and Iron Trades, London; The Foundry, a trade journal, Cleveland; Industries and Iron, a journal for the engineering, electrical, chemical, and metal trades, London; Industrial World, devoted to the metal, electrical, mining, and allied industries, Pittsburg; Iron Age, a review of hardware, iron, machinery, and metal trades, New York; Iron and Coal Trades Review, London; Iron and Machinery World, Chicago; Iron and Steel Institute Journal, London; Iron and Steel Trades Journal and Colliery Engineer, London; Iron Molders' Journal, Cincinnati; Iron Trade Review, Cleveland; Iron Trades Circular, Birmingham, England (ordered); The Ironmonger, London; Mines and Minerals, a mining and metallurgical journal, Scranton, Pa., and Denver; Pacific Coast Wood and Iron, San Francisco; Page's Weekly, London; Staffordshire Iron and Steel Institute, Proceedings, Brierley-Hill, England; Stahl und Eisen, Düsseldorf; The Statist, London; Verein deutscher Eisen- und Stahl-Industrieller, Berlin.

Bibliography.—Great Britain. Subject list of works on the mineral industries and allied sciences, in the library of the Patent office. London, 1903.

PREFATORY NOTE TO THIRD ISSUE

The present issue has been revised and brought to date.

Some of the topics treated in the material added since the Second Issue of the List include:

Restriction of immigration.—The documents relating to the recent legislation which resulted in the passage of a law regulating the immigration of aliens to the United States, approved Feb. 10, 1907, are noted on pp. 111-112 of this List.

Nature and tendencies of Immigration.—Among the new publications are to be noted Hall's "Immigration and its effects on the United States;" Grose's "Aliens or Americans?" "The Incoming millions." The subject is also discussed by Wells in "The future in America."

Personal experiences among immigrants are Braun's "Immigration abuses;" Steiner's "On the trail of the immigrant."

The subject of Japanese immigration, which has recently occupied public attention is treated in a number of magazine articles and in speeches in Congress. These are noted on pp. 90-94 of this List.

Leading articles on Italian immigration include Preziosi in "Rivista internazionale," vol. 38, pp. 358-370; vol. 42, pp. 199-214; Meade in the "South Atlantic quarterly," vol. 4, pp. 217-223; Barker in the "Arena," vol. 34, pp. 174-176; Caracristi in the "Manufacturers' record," vol. 48, pp. 63-65; Castiglione in the "American journal of sociology," vol. 11, pp. 183-206; article in the "American monthly review of reviews," vol. 32, pp. 361-363; Speranza, in "Charities," vol. 15, pp. 114-116; Stevenson in "Public opinion," vol. 39, pp. 453-456; Scott in the "Manufacturers' record," vol. 48, pp. 423-424; the article in "La Rassegna nazional," vol. 146, pp. 471-487; Gonnard; in "Questions diplomatiques et coloniales," vol. 21, pp. 36-45, 96-110, Mayor des Planches in "Nuova Antologia," in articles running through new series, vols. 121-124; Carr, in the "Outlook," vol. 82, pp. 419-431; Ghio in "Journal des économistes," 6th series, vol. 9, pp. 321-336; Casson in "Munsey's magazine," vol. 36, pp. 112-116; Schultze in "Zeitschrift für Socialwissenschaft," Jahrg. 9, pp. 642-662; Villari in "Nuova antologia," vol. 127, pp. 33-56; and Stone in the "American monthly review of reviews," vol. 35, pp. 209-213.

Scandinavian immigration is treated by Flom in "Iowa journal of history and politics," vol. 3, pp. 347-383, 583-615, vol. 4, pp. 220-244, 267-285; in the article in the "World to-day," vol. 9, pp. 1293-1297; in the article in the "American monthly review of reviews," vol. 34, pp. 224-225; by Casson in "Munsey's magazine," vol. 35, pp. 613-618; and by Wisby in "North American review," vol. 183, pp. 213-223.

German immigration is discussed by Casson in "Munsey's magazine," vol. 34, pp. 694-707; in the article in the "American monthly review of reviews," vol. 33, pp. 480-481; by Duncker in "Deutsche Wirtschafts-Zeitung," vol. 11, pp. 436-439, 492-496; and by Baron von Sternburg in "North American review," vol. 182, pp. 641-650.

Hungarian immigration is considered by Mailath in "Revue économique internationale," vol. 2, pp. 486-511; De Levay in the "North American review," vol. 182, pp. 115-122; in the article in the "American monthly review of reviews," vol. 33, pp. 354-356; and by Gonnard in "Questions diplomatiques et coloniales," vol. 23, pp. 26-33.

Immigration to the South is the subject of the following discussions: Fleming in the "Political science quarterly," vol. 20, pp. 276-297, review of Fleming's article in the "Manufacturers' record," vol. 47, pp. 575-576; Meade in the "South Atlantic quarterly," vol. 4, pp. 217-223; Caracristi in the "Manufacturers' record," vol. 48, pp. 63-65; Stevenson in "Public opinion," vol. 39, pp. 453-456; Ward in the "Atlantic monthly," vol. 96, pp. 611-617; Scott, in the "Manufacturers' record," vol. 48, pp. 423-424; Badenhoop, in the "Manufacturers' record," vol. 48, pp. 514-515; Mayor des Planches in "Nuova Antologia," in articles running through new series vol. 121-124; Patten in "Business magazine," vol. 15, pp. 115-122; Leucht in "Charities and the Commons," vol. 16, pp. 275-277; articles in the "Manufacturers' record," vol. 49, pp. 423-428, 515; Tilden in the "Nation," vol. 82, pp. 298-299; Gordon in "Manufacturers' record," vol. 49, pp. 578-579; McRae in the "Manufacturers' record," vol. 49, p. 694; Merry in "Railway world," vol. 51, pp. 11-12; Stone in "American monthly review of reviews," vol. 35, pp. 209-213.

The pamphlet issued by the National civic federation entitled "Facts about immigration" was received too late for entry in the body of the List, and is here noted.

The subject index with which this issue of the List is provided is a guide to specific phases of the immigration question.

PREFATORY NOTE TO THE SECOND ISSUE

The present issue is mainly a reprint from the plates of the first. It has, however, been made to include the publications which have been added to the Library since the first issue by the substitution of recent titles for some of the early and less important works.

The articles in periodicals, Congressional documents, consular reports, etc., have been brought to date.

Among the new publications there are to be noted:

Immigration in its general aspects in the principal countries of the world.—Whelpley's "The problem of the immigrant," in which are reprinted his articles in the "Fortnightly review," vol. 77, pp. 317-326 and the "North American review," vol. 180, pp. 856-867.

Restriction of immigration.—The publications of the Immigration restriction league, noted on pages 28 and 29 of this List; Ward's "The immigration problem" and the same author's essay in the "North American review," vol. 179, pp. 226-237, advocating an educational test; Whelpley in "World's work," vol. 8, pp. 5254-5259, the "Fortnightly review," vol. 77, pp. 317-326, and the "North American review," vol. 180, pp. 856-867, looking upon immigration as an international affair and an agreement among nations as desirable; Ernest Crosby in the "Arena," vol. 32, pp. 596-602 favorable to immigration; McLaughlin in a series of articles in "Popular science monthly," vol. 66, pp. 243-255, 357-361, 531-537, arguing that certain social and political ills are not attributable to the immigrants, describing the method of inspection of immigrants, and advocating a standard of physique as an effective means of preventing undesirable immigration.

Immigration and the poorer classes in cities.—Hunter's "Poverty;" Riis's "The battle with the slums" and "How the other half lives." Consult also numerous articles in the periodical "Charities," published by the Charity organization society, New York.

Labor and immigration.—Adams and Sumner's "Labor problems;" "Social progress, a year book," 1904-1905; Warne's "The Slav invasion;" and Wright's "The influence of trade unions on immigrants" in the "Commons," vol. 10, pp. 303-307; and Massachusetts Bureau of labor report on "Race in industry," forming Senate doc. no. 27, 58th Cong., 1st session.

Method of dealing with immigrants.—Miss Jane Addams in the "Commons," vol. 10, pp. 9-19; J. H. Hoose, in "Education," vol. 25, pp. 269-278.

Immigrant question in Great Britain.—Boutmy's "The English people;" Bradshaw and Emanuel's "Alien immigration" (arguments pro and con); Buxton's "A handbook to political questions of the day;" C. Kinloch Cooke in the "Empire review," vol. 9, pp. 208-228, 436-460, vol. 10, pp. 1-10; Gordon's "The alien immigrant;" Schooling's "Foreigners in England" in the "Fortnightly review," vol. 76, pp. 880-894; and the reports of Parliamentary committees noted on pages 22-25 of this List.

German immigration.—Canstatt's "Die deutsche Auswanderung;" Schwegel's "Die Einwanderung in die Vereinigten Staaten von Amerika."

Italian immigration.—Bodio's "Notes sur la législation et la statistique comparées de l'émigration et de l'immigration;" Brandenburg's "Imported Americans" a record of experiences of one who assumed the character of an immigrant; the "Bollettino de l'immigrazione" published by the Italian emigration commission; Lord's "The Italian in America." The periodical "L'Italia coloniale" contains a number of important articles, written from the Italian standpoint. Two articles by Rambaud in the "Revue de Paris," June 1 and 15, 1905, are of exceptional interest. Among the discussions are McLaughlin's "Italian and other Latin immigrants," in "Popular science monthly," vol. 65, pp. 341-349; Jadot's "L'émigration italienne" in "Questions diplomatiques et coloniales," vol. 18, pp. 209-219; Speranza's "A mission of peace," in the "Outlook," vol. 78, pp. 128-131; Tosti's "Italy's attitude towards her immigrants," in "North American review," vol. 180, pp. 720-726; Robbins's "Italian to-day, American to-morrow," in the "Outlook," vol. 80, pp. 382-384.

Slavic immigration.—Warne's "The Slav invasion;" "The Slav in America," a symposium in "Charities" vol. 13, pp. 189-266; Kucera's "The Slavic races in Cleveland" in "Charities," vol. 13, pp. 377-378; Svarc's "The culture which the Slav offers America," in "Charities," vol. 14, pp. 875-881; Lovejoy's "The Slav child: a national asset or a liability," in "Charities," vol. 14, pp. 882-884.

Bibliography.—The Report of the British Board of trade, published 1893 (noted on page 22 of this List), contains a list of books on immigration into the United States.

Vol. 30 of the Special consular reports is on "Emigration to the United States" and compares present conditions with those of 1890, when F. L. Dingley made the report printed in Special consular reports, vol. 2.

PREFATORY NOTE TO THE FIRST ISSUE

The primary purpose of this List is to show material on the history of immigration to this country, with discussions on the economic influence of immigration. The List, however, takes in some works outside of this scope. This is a consequence of noting all the works contained in the section of the shelves devoted to immigration. There are therefore found treatises on emigration from one foreign country to another, as well as political and economic studies based on conditions abroad; handbooks issued by Western states to encourage settlement, which naturally are mere expositions of the resources of the states in question, etc.

The List, is arranged as follows:

List of books, 181 titles; References to articles in periodicals, 259; Congressional documents, 100; Reports of the Commissioner of immigration, etc., 50; Treasury department decisions, 31 entries; and Consular reports, 103 entries.

The history of Congressional investigation and legislation concerning immigration is summarized in Senate report no. 1333, 52d Congress, 2d session, which is a general report on proposed restriction of immigration. A list of Congressional documents from 1788-1903 is given on pp. 95-109 of this List. Prior to 1882 it was a question only of encouraging immigration. In that year a law was passed placing some restrictions on immigration. In 1883 a report was presented providing for a commission and joint commission on immigration. A report known as the "Ford committee report" which dealt with contract labor, etc., forms House report no. 3792 of the 50th Congress, 2d session. The testimony taken by the Committee was printed as House miscellaneous document no. 572 of the 50th Congress, 1st session. As a result of investigations in 1890 a voluminous report was published as House report no. 3472, 51st Congress, 2d session. In July, 1892, a report by a Committee which investigated the general subject of immigration and naturalization together with testimony taken was printed as House report no. 2090, 52d Congress, 1st session. The next important report is that issued as Senate report no. 1333, 52d Congress, 2d session. Senator Lodge's report, which advocated making illiteracy an obstacle to immigration, forms Senate report no. 290, 54th Congress, 1st session. The report on the McCall bill, which forbade the admittance of illiterate males over 16 years of age, is printed as House report no. 1079, 54th Congress, 1st session. The conference report on this bill forms Senate document no. 118, 54th Congress, 2d session. The veto of this bill is printed as Senate document no. 185 of the same session. In 1902 a lengthy report was made by the Senate committee on immigration, which with the testimony taken, was printed as Senate document no. 62, 57th Congress, 2d session. The Act of March 3, 1903, which is characterized as a systematic codification of the various laws relating to immigration, is printed in the Statutes at large, vol. 32, part 1, pp. 1213-1222. The text of the laws down to 1893 is contained in the Annual report of the United States superintendent of immigration for the year ending June 30, 1893. Various editions of the immigration laws are noted on page 29 of this List. A digest of immigration laws, and decisions was published by the Bureau of immigration in 1899 as Treasury department document no. 2108. Vol. 15 of the Reports of the Industrial commission, chapter 11, is devoted to "Immigration legislation and its workings."

The laws of foreign countries regarding immigration are treated in Chandèze's "De l'intervention des pouvoirs publics dans l'émigration et l'immigration au XIX^e siècle." Vol. 15 of the Reports of the Industrial commission gives the English text of laws of foreign countries affecting immigration and emigration. Current statistics of immigration to the United States are given in the Reports of the Commissioner of immigration. General statistics of immigration of foreign population, based on census reports down to 1900, are given in vol. 15 of the Reports of the Industrial commission. Tabulated statistics showing the number, nationality, sex, age, occupation, and destination, from 1820-1903, are published in the "Monthly summary of commerce and finance" for June, 1903.

Richmond Mayo-Smith's "Emigration and immigration" is a general study of the history of the economic phases of immigration. This work is a summarized history of immigration, with chapters on the economic gain by immigration, the social effects of immigration, and restrictions of immigration, and discusses special methods of regulating immigration. "Immigration and its economic effects," based on a study of conditions in various industries, accompanied by papers on the foreign immigration in New York City and the agricultural distribution of immigrants, is treated at length by John R. Commons in vol. 15 of the Reports of the Industrial commission, pp. 293-743.

A statement of the investigation into the character of immigration made by consular officers of the United States is published in House executive document no. 157, 49th Congress, 2d session, and some of the papers contained in this document are reprinted in "Consular reports," vol. 22, no. 76, April, 1887.

Bromwell's "History of immigration to the United States" is a compendium of statistics on the general subject of immigration up to 1850. Kapp's "Immigration, and the commissioners of emigration" is an exposition of various phases of immigration, particularly as represented by conditions in New York down to 1850.

The subject of alien immigration into Great Britain has been the subject of investigation by a Royal Commission, which made a voluminous report in 1904, printed as Parliamentary papers cd. 1741, 1742, 1743, noted on page 24 of this List.

Writers favoring the restriction of immigration, noted in the List of books on immigration, pp. 13-49, are Atchison, Chetwood, De France, Henry George, Strong, Swank, and Walker; favoring immigration is John P. Altgeld. Cadwalader Biddle considers such methods of restriction as will prevent the landing of immigrants likely to become public charges. Philip C. Garrett advises the exercise of caution in obstructing the flow of immigration.

Periodical literature is prolific in discussions of the question of immigration. Among the articles favoring restriction may be noted: Boyesen, "Forum," vol. 3, pp. 532-542; Godkin, "Nation," vol. 45, pp. 518-519; Bemis, "Andover review," vol. 9, pp. 251-264; Fox, "Contemporary review," vol. 53, pp. 855-867; Powderly, "North American review," vol. 147, pp. 165-174; Round, "American social science association Journal," vol. 28, pp. 66-78; Coxe, "Forum," vol. 7, pp. 597-608; Round, "Forum," vol. 8, pp. 428-440; Chetwood, "Arena," vol. 2, pp. 268-277; Lodge, "North American review," vol. 152, pp. 27-36, 602-612; Walker, "Forum," vol. 11, pp. 634-644; Walker, "Yale review," vol. 1, pp. 125-145; Cook, "Our day," vol. 11, pp. 42-47; Wood, "American journal of politics," vol. 2, pp. 512-524; Fisher, "Forum," vol. 16, pp. 560-567; Williams, "American magazine of civics," vol. 8, pp. 64-68.

Roebling in the "American magazine of civics," vol. 9, pp. 235-245, thinks unrestricted immigration produces low wages. Hall, in the "North American review," vol. 165, pp. 393-402, favors the reading and writing test. Chetwood, "Arena," vol. 27, pp. 254-260, favors rigid exclusion. McLaughlin, "Popular science monthly," vol. 62, pp. 230-236, favors increase of head tax, but disfavors the educational test. Bishop in the "International quarterly," vol. 7, pp. 238-240, thinks more stringent restriction is necessary. Matson in the "Outlook," vol. 77, pp. 461-464, recommends colonization of immigrants in the West.

Articles favoring immigration are: Altgeld, "Forum," vol. 8, pp. 684-696; Weber and Smith, "North American review," vol. 154, pp. 434-438; Atkinson, "Forum," vol. 13, pp. 360-370; Parker, "Forum," vol. 14, pp. 600-607; Schwab, "Forum," vol. 14, pp. 805-814; Puddefoot, "American magazine of civics," vol. 9, pp. 1-11.

Croswell, "North American review," vol. 164, pp. 526-536, is opposed to any restriction. Schurz in "Harper's weekly," vol. 42, p. 27, is unfavorable to an educational test. Senner in the "Independent," vol. 50, p. 77, is opposed to any further restriction. Claghorn in the "Atlantic monthly," vol. 86, pp. 535-548, thinks immigration is to be encouraged rather than discouraged. Falkner in the "Political science quarterly," vol. 19, pp. 32-49, thinks that it has been shown by statistics that there has been no deterioration in recent immigration.

In the "North American review," vol. 156, pp. 1-8, Senator William E. Chandler favored suspension of immigration for one year on account of the Chicago exposition and danger from cholera. In the "North American review," vol. 156, pp. 220-227, Senator Henry C. Hansbrough replies to this article in opposition. In the "Forum," vol. 16, pp. 560-567, Sydney G. Fisher discusses what he considers the injurious effect of immigration on literature. In the "Yale review," vol. 1, pp. 125-145, Francis A. Walker wrote favoring a money test.

Treatises on Irish immigration are as follows: Byrne's "Irish emigration to the United States: what it has been and what it is;" Emmet's "Irish emigration during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries;" Hale's "Letters on Irish emigration;" "Emigration to the United States. France. Scotland. Ireland," in "Daily consular reports," no. 1928, April 15, 1904; "Memorial of the Irish emigrant society of New York," Feb. 6, 1871, forming House miscellaneous document no. 69, 41st Congress, 3d session.

Treatises on Italian immigration are as follows: Bodio's "Della emigrazione italiana nell' anno 1876;" "Statistica della emigrazione italiana all' estero nel 1881;" Braun's "Report concerning certain knowledge believed to be possessed by the Italian authorities as to emigration of undesirable aliens, etc.," in the annual report of the commissioner-general of immigration, 1903, pp. 86-96; Ellena's "Della emigrazione e delle sue leggi;" Florenzano's "Della emigrazione italiana in America, comparata alle altre emigrazioni europee;" "La Nuova legislazione sulla emigrazione e sul rilascio dei passaporti per l' estero;" Oldrini's "Italian immigration," in Senate report no. 1333, pp. 265-277, 52d Congress, 2d session; Wilkins's "The alien invasion," Appendix C; Schuyler's "Italian immigration into the United States," in "Political science quarterly," vol. 4, pp. 480-495; Merlino's "Italian immigrants and their enslavement," in the "Forum," vol. 15, pp. 183-190; Bodio's "The protection of Italian emigrants in America," in the "Chautauquan," vol. 23, pp. 42-46; Senner's "Immigration from Italy," in "North American review," vol. 162, pp. 649-657; Hall's "Italian immigration," in "North American review," vol. 163, pp. 252-254; Davenport's "The Italian immigrant in America," in the “Outlook,” vol. 73, pp. 29–37; Boutet’s “Instituti di patronato dell’ emigrazione italiana negli Stati Uniti,” in “Italia coloniale,” anno 4, vol. 1, pp. 574–580; Speranza’s “The Italian foreman as a social agent,” in “Charities,” vol. 11, pp. 26–28; “I benefici dell’ emigrazione,” in “Italia coloniale,” anno 5, vol. 1, pp. 248–250; Foulke’s “A word on Italian immigration,” vol. 76, pp. 459–461; Davenport’s “Italian immigration,” in the “Outlook,” vol. 76, p. 527; “Italians in cotton growing,” in “Manufacturer’s record,” vol. 45, p. 249; “Our Italian immigrants,” in the “Outlook,” vol. 76, pp. 911–912; Davenport’s “The exodus of a Latin people,” in “Charities,” vol. 12, pp. 463–467; Tosti’s “The agricultural possibilities of Italian immigration,” in “Charities,” vol. 12, pp. 472–476; Brindisi’s “The Italian and public health,” in “Charities,” vol. 12, pp. 483–486; Stella’s “Tuberculosis and the Italians in the United States,” in “Charities,” vol. 12, pp. 486–489; Brandt’s “A transplanted birthright: the development of the second generation of the Italians in an American environment,” in “Charities,” vol. 12, pp. 494–499; Claghorn’s “The Italian under economic stress,” in “Charities,” vol. 12, pp. 501–504; “What emigration may mean to Italy,” in “American monthly review of reviews,” vol. 30, pp. 109–111; Cocchia’s “Il proletariato intellettuale et il problema dell’ emigrazione,” in “Nuova antologia,” anno 39, May 1, 1904, pp. 89–99.

The following are treatises on German immigration: Braun’s “Ideen über die Auswanderung nach Amerika;” Castro’s “Immigration from Alsace and Lorraine;” Deutsche Gesellschaft der Stadt New York: “Praktische Rathschläge und Mittheilungen für deutsche Einwanderer;” Fröbel’s “Die deutsche Auswanderung und ihre culturhistorische Bedeutung;” Hoppe’s “Der Ansiedler in den Vereinigten Staaten von Nord-Amerika;” Ichenhaeuser’s “Ein Beitrag zur Übervölkerungsfrage;” Lehmann’s “Die deutsche Auswanderung;” Ludwig’s “Das Auswanderungswesen in Deutschland;” Oetken’s “Reise eines deutschen Landwirths durch die Vereinigten Staaten von Nord-Amerika;” Young’s “Spezieller Bericht über Einwanderung in die Vereinigten Staaten nebst Nachrichten für Einwanderer;” and Steiner’s “The German immigrant in America,” in the “Outlook,” vol. 73, pp. 260–264. “A list of works relating to the Germans in the United States” has been published by the Library.

The subject of Scandinavian immigration is treated by the following writers: Andersen, Peterson, and Sundbärg.

The subject of Polish, Hungarian, and Slav immigration is considered by Chéhard, Warne, and in articles by Edward A. Steiner, in the “Outlook,” vol. 73, pp. 555–564, and vol. 74, pp. 1040–1044.

Russian immigration is discussed in articles in the following magazines: “Forum,” vol. 15, pp. 183–190; “World’s work,” vol. 7, pp. 4471–4479, 4555–4567.

In the body of the List some reports of State immigration bureaus are noted, but no account is taken of such reports contained in the legislative series of the different States. For instance, in the New York legislative documents there are to be found all the reports of the Commissioners of immigration from 1847 to 1893.

The annual reports of the National board of health, 1879-1885, consider to an extent the introduction of contagious diseases into the United States by aliens, immigrant inspection, and related subjects.

Examines ethnic and demographic composition of Italian immigration, and physical, economic, social, and financial conditions it presents. The concentration of the Italians in the large cities is therein discussed, and declared to be as detrimental to themselves as to the United States. Colonizing societies, it is held, will solve the problem of concentration, and concentration done away with, the resulting evil necessarily ceases to exist.

PREFATORY NOTE

This list was prepared for the volume entitled "Rochambeau Commemoration by the Congress of the United States of America of the services of the French auxiliary forces in the War of Independence, prepared by the authority of Congress under the direction of the Joint Committee on the Library. By De B. Randolph Keim." The publication of that work being delayed, it was decided to print this list separately.

It gives first titles of works relating to the French alliance, then United States Government documents. The remaining titles are grouped under the headings, "Marquis de Lafayette," "The French Fleet in the American Revolution," "The Siege of Yorktown."

Current statistics of American foreign trade in tabulated form are printed annually in the Statistical Abstract of the United States. More detailed statistics are given in the annual report on Foreign Commerce and Navigation of the United States, and similar statistics in monthly form appear in the Monthly Summary of Commerce and Finance of the United States. These are all published by the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor. The consular reports of the United States and of Great Britain contain reports on specific subjects of commerce.

The Board of Trade Journal, London, published monthly, has a section devoted to tariff changes throughout the world.

Official Canadian publications to be noted are the Tables of the Trade and Navigation of the Dominion of Canada, and the Unrevised Monthly Statements of Imports Entered for Consumption and Exports of the Dominion of Canada, both published by the Department of Customs; the Annual Report of the Department of Trade and Commerce, the Monthly Report of the same department, and the Statistical Yearbook of Canada, issued by the Department of Agriculture. Nonofficial publications containing material on trade relations of Canada are: The Canadian Annual Review, Toronto; The Canadian Manufacturer, semimonthly, Toronto; The Canadian Gazette, weekly, London; and Canada, weekly, Montreal.

Brief reports of the sessions of the Canadian Tariff Commission are printed in the Canadian Gazette and in the Canadian Manufacturer for 1905 and 1906.

A 24-page analysis of the new Canadian tariff has been issued by the Chamberlain Tariff Commission.
